SECTION-B (30 MARKS)

Q2. Read the following passage and answer the questions given at the end. (2+2+2+2+2=10)

Markhor's strong and powerful legs give it the ability to maintain balance when climbing or simply walking on hills. It eats grass in spring and summer but feeds on leaves herbs fruits and flowers in winter. Snow leopard wolves and black bears are the common enemies of Markhor. It has extremely keen senses of sight and smell. These senses help it to sense hunters from a distance. It grazes mostly on the peaks of mountains so it is out of the range of predators. If it senses danger it uses its excellent climbing skills to escape. Markhor is an endangered species. It is killed by hunters particularly for its meat and horns. Its horns are used for traditional medicines and trophies. Markhor has a lifespan of twelve to thirteen years.
